

FEBRUARY 23 IS HEART SUNDAY

GOVERNOR OTTO KERNER and Frank F. Fowler, President of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Heart Surgery Saved His Life

February 23 will be Heart Sunday in Antioch, as in most communities across the nation. Heart Sunday this year will mark the beginning of the last week of the drive for money to finance further research into diseases of the heart, their prevention and their cure.

Tremendous strides have been made in all the medical fields related to heart disease in the past five years. Much of the advance has been made because of the dollars that have poured into the Heart Fund.

The most spectacular advance has been made because of the dollars that have poured into the Heart Fund.

The most spectacular advances have been in the field of heart surgery. Operations that were unheard of a few years ago are now a routine matter in hospitals.

Illustrating one of the new operations, Dr. Allan Thain, Antioch Heart Fund Medical chairman, cited the case of Joseph Konzny, Rt. 4, Antioch.

"On July 24, 1962," Dr. Thain reports, "Mr. Konzny noted cramping abdominal pain following the evening meal. Thinking it was merely constipation, he retired only to awaken the next morning with the same pain, plus coldness and perspiration in his legs. He was seen (by the doctor) on July 25, 1962, because of the symptoms."

"An examination revealed what was thought to be an aneurysm of the aorta (this is a weakness in the wall of the main blood tubes from the heart which blows up like a balloon until it breaks, resulting shortly in death if not repaired).

"He was sent immediately to Veterans' Administration Hospital in Chicago. After a work-up and cross-match for ten units of blood, within an hour he was taken to surgery.

"In surgery, not one but two, expanding aneurysms were found. The aneurysms and the aorta were removed and a tube made of teflon (a substance like nylon), was sutured in place to take the place of the diseased blood vessel.

"Mr. Konzny recovered so satisfactorily that he left the hospital on August 8, 1962."

Mr. Konzny was 71 years old at the time of this surgery. If this had occurred ten years earlier, July 25, 1952, would no doubt have been his last day on earth. With the help of heart fund dollars, medical knowledge and technique have improved so that this man, like many others with the same disorder, is living a normal life nearly two years later."

"This," Dr. Thain continues, "is one of the bright sides of the conquest of diseases of the heart and blood vessels. There are other areas where research and work are still vital. For instance, the 41-year-old man with two children and another on the way who goes out to push a car in the snow, has a sudden pain in his chest, and dies. This is a tragedy that can not yet be averted, but work is going on. Possibly it will be your contribution which will save, if not your own life, possibly your son's or grandson's."

"Give as generously as you can," Dr. Thain concludes, "For it is money that is required for the experimentation and research necessary for further progress."

Windshields Broken By Snowballs

Local and county police were called in last Monday afternoon when "horseplay" with snowballs broke the windshield on one Antioch High School bus and cracked another.

The incidents occurred Monday afternoon as students were being taken home. Both buses were traveling south on Route 21.

The snowballs were tossed from a car traveling in the opposite direction. The windshield of one car was struck by the snowball just south of the intersection of Routes 173 and 21. The other bus was near Floral Acres when the incident occurred. The windshield of one bus was cracked, the other shattered.

Bus drivers Gordon Wells and William Pearce told police that the snowballs were thrown from a white-topped green Chevrolet, probably a 1954 model. Police are searching for the car.

Career Night At High School

Antioch Community High School students will have a chance to learn a little about various careers they may be interested in pursuing when they enter the labor market at Career Night on February 25.

Parents and students, including sophomores, juniors and seniors are invited to attend the program. The schedule will begin at 3 p.m. in the auditorium of the high school, followed by three 25-minute sessions, then refreshments.

Dr. Glenn W. E. Waterloo, Guidance Consultant, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, will give the main address. His topic will be "You and the World of Work."

Fifty-one consultants will be present to give the students information on as many careers.

Honor Central High Seniors

Salem Central High School has announced the names of the four seniors who have maintained the highest grade averages through their four years of high school. The four are Jack Spears, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Spears, Rt. 2, Salem, Wis.; Sharon Sorenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sorenson, Rte. 2, Kenosha; Joan Kempf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kempf, Rte. 2, Kenosha; and John Sabin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sabin, Rt. 1, Bristol.

Scholarships will be given to the four seniors at the close of the school year.

Jack Spears is entering the school of engineering of the University of Wisconsin; Sharon Sorenson will go to Whitewater, where she plans to take an education course to prepare her for teaching; Joan Kempf will attend the University of Wisconsin to take the course in computer math; John Sabin is undecided, but would like to go to a college of agriculture.

All of the four students have been active in extracurricular activities at school through their high school years. They have been members of the band and chorus, the science club, the pep club, forensics and sports.

Local Men Injured In Accidents

Several local people were injured last week in accidents caused by bad roads and fog.

Bruce Barton, 31, of 574 Parkwal St., Antioch is in St. Therese Hospital suffering from a neck injury after an accident Sunday morning on Route 31 near Audrey Ave.

Barton was driving south on Route 31 when his car apparently hit a slippery spot and went out of control. His car crossed over the center line and hit a car driven by Joseph Egrest, 57, of Racine, Wis. Egrest and a passenger in his car, Russell Strobush, 43, also of Racine, were also taken to St. Therese, where they were reported in good condition.

Enoch (Bill) Wheelen, of Sundside subdivision, Rt. 3, Antioch, and Bob Breul, Harvard, son of Russell Breul of Camp Lake, were injured in a head-on collision on Route 173 near Spring Grove Road last Wednesday (Feb. 12).

Breul was reported seriously injured, with throat injuries, a broken rib and a crushed pelvis. Wheelen reportedly suffered cuts and a cracked rib and was reported in "pretty good" condition at St. Therese Hospital.

The accident occurred near the Rudolph Turkey Farm on Route 173 about 4:30 p.m. last Wednesday. Breul was driving west on Route 173, Wheelen's car skidded on the slippery pavement and went out of control, striking the Breul car head-on, according to reports. Both cars were demolished.

Breul is reported improving at Rockford Memorial Hospital. Both men were alone in their cars.

Benefit Fashion Show On Easter Monday, March 30

Two things dear to the feminine heart, from toddler to grandmother — dolls and beautiful clothes — will lure the women of the area to St. Peter's Social Center on Monday, March 30.

The occasion is the History of Fashion show to be staged by the Antioch Woman's Club on that day for the benefit of Countryside Hospital.

The show will start at 1 p.m. and probably last about two hours. An in that two hours the audience will be treated to an authentic display, on live models, of fashions from the time of the primitive woman to today.

Each model will carry a doll wearing a costume identical to her own. Both the models and the dolls are dressed in costumes made by Mrs. James McMillen.

The costumes are painstakingly authentic, even to the colors popular at the period being represented. Mrs. McMillen has spent hours in research to check even the smallest details.

Mrs. McMillen's running commentary on the fashions and customs that influenced — or were influenced by — the styles of the time add to the liveliness of the entertainment.

In addition, there will be various entertaining "breaks."

In the modelling of fashions, and prizes will be given to members of the audience at times throughout the show, including the dolls which will be used for table decorations that day.

The show will start with a dessert luncheon. Tickets to the luncheon and show are $1.50 each. Children are welcome, but tickets for them will be the same price as adults. "I think a lot of young girls — and, for that matter, boys and men — would find this show as interesting as will the women," Mrs. McMillen commented.

Some of the periods represented by fashions in the show will be the Egyptian, Greek, Byzantium, Medieval, Italian Renaissance, various Queens of history, Viking, the 1800's 1900's, 1930, and ending with models displaying their own Easter outfits of 1964.

Mrs. McMillen and Mrs. Jerome Vogler, chairman of the Hospital Benefit Show, are appearing at various PTA and Club meetings in the area this month before the show to exhibit a few of the dolls and give an account of some of the entertainment that will be included in the show.

School Board Plans Addition

Voters of the Emmons School District will be asked to approve the issuance of bonds to build an addition to the school in the near future.

A definite date for the referendum will be announced in the near future.

Plans at present include the addition of a multi-purpose room, kitchen, office and storage space. The present all-purpose room would be divided into three classrooms.

The school now has an enrollment of 105. Enrollment has increased steadily in the last four years, and projected enrollment figures show an expected enrollment of about 225 within ten years.

Emmons school is on Route 59 south of Antioch. Louis Tanner is president of the three man board. John F. Yargas is superintendent of the school.

Methodist Men To Hear About Taxes

Roy J. Swanson of the Internal Revenue Service will be the featured speaker on the dinner meeting of the Methodist Men's Club on Monday night, March 2.

The meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. Mr. Swanson will speak on "Your Income Tax." There will be a question and answer period following his talk.

Apply For Charter For Antioch Chapter Of Foreign Exchange

Work of the adult officers and committees seeking to establish an Antioch Chapter of the American Field Service is progressing swiftly. The American Field Service is the sponsoring organization which brings foreign students to American High Schools, and sends American students to countries abroad. The Student Council at Antioch Community High School has been working to establish an Antioch chapter since last year.

The help of local adults and civic organizations is also needed, however, to carry the play through. A fund of at least $700.00, a local organization to keep check on the welfare of the foreign student, and a family who will accept the student as a "house guest" for the school year, are needed to establish the chapter.

Temporary local officers for the adult organization were elected at a meeting at the Antioch High School last Tuesday, (Feb. 11). Further progress was made at a meeting at the State Bank on Thursday, Feb. 13. An application for a charter for the Antioch chapter has been mailed to the New York headquarters of the American Field Service, along with information about the town and the High School. Local officers of the Exchange program hope to hear from the New York office by the date of the next scheduled meeting, to be held Thursday, Feb. 27, at the Rescue Squad Building in Antioch.

At the Feb. 27 meeting a report will be given on the finances available to date. The public is invited, and local officers especially hope people will attend who might be interested in providing a home for the foreign student. Conditions that must be met, an explanation of what is desirable in providing a home for a student will be explained at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Kuechenmeister have been elected to serve along with Mr. and Mrs. Sven Osterlund to screen applicants willing to take in the foreign student.

Participation in the Foreign Exchange program will make the Antioch Chapter eligible to send an Antioch student abroad. Finances would have to be provided by the local chapter.

Many high schools in the area, among them Waukegan and Libertyville, have participated in the Foreign Exchange program for several years. Representatives of the Student Councils in those schools have attended several with their foreign "guests", telling of the benefits they have derived from association with the students from other lands. The Foreign Exchange students are be-

Round Lake Woman Killed In Accident

An accident near Petite Lake Road on Route 59 Monday night resulted in the death of Mrs. Venita Cowell, 36, of Round Lake Beach.

Mrs. Cowell was alone in her car, and was believed to have been dead several hours when the accident was reported at 7 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Deputies said it appeared that Mrs. Cowell had been headed south on Route 59 when her car left the road and hit a tree. There was considerable fog in the area Monday night.

Mrs. Cowell was a widow and the mother of five children. She was employed as a secretary in Waukegan.

Mayor Proclaims U.S. History Month

Mayor Murrill Cunningham has issued a proclamation declaring February to be American History Month in Antioch.

American History Month is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. February is the month in which the birthdays of both Lincoln and Washington are celebrated, added reasons for selecting this month to remind citizens of their heritage.

The DAR calls upon all schools to emphasize the study of American History during this month.

Crash Holds Up Art Display

In last week's issue of the Antioch News, it was stated that Kathryn Loftus' paintings would be on display at the Antioch Public Library starting last Saturday.

Mrs. Loftus called Tuesday to explain why they weren't and to ask us to express her apologies to the people who might have been looking for them.

Mrs. Loftus called from Victory Memorial Hospital, where she had been since last Friday. She was driving to work about 4:30 p.m. that day when her car was involved in an accident and she was injured.

Mrs. Loftus said she was driving east on Grand Ave. when a car driven by Victor Steurmenn, 5900 33rd St., Kenosha, pulled out of Hendricks Road and hit her car broadside.

Mrs. Loftus said she saw the car waiting at the intersection as she approached it. She said Steurmenn said the sun was in his eyes and he didn't see her car.

Betty Lu Williams says the library staff is making arrangements to pick up the paintings. They will be on display at the library the latter part of the week — barring accidents.

The War Against Poverty

After years of looking abroad, America has turned its eyes inward. The sight is not a pleasant one.

President Johnson's declaration of war against poverty precipitated the present self-analysis. With a fervor formerly heaped on affairs relating to Russia, Cuba, Viet Nam and the starving and illiterate peoples of nations around the world, American newspapers and magazines have now embarked on a crusade to bring the white glare of publicity to bear on poverty-stricken Americans.

The poor have always been there—the sick, the cold, the starving, the people. But, as with the mentally handicapped, more fortunate Americans have tried to forget them. They've convinced themselves that anyone can get a job if he's willing to work, and no one need starve in this land of plenty. "They are just lazy," became the stock, quick-spoken answer to any move to appropriate funds to relieve the need. "Shiftless. Immoral. They're living high on the money I worked to earn."

The words were usually just parroting of a wish that this be true, spoken without any real knowledge of why people are poor, or how poor they were or how many of such people there were in the country, or in this state, or in this community. And they didn't want facts that might prove them wrong. Life is so much easier, your own comfort so much more enjoyable, if you're not forced to remember that others are suffering and starving. So much easier to clamor against the rising cost of relief, the added taxes, than it is to face the fact that even this is not nearly enough.

Now some of the brutal truths are being forced on anyone who will read. The truth that millions are starving hopelessly, and through no fault of their own. Their poverty is an accident of geography, of color of skin, of choice of occupation, of birth. They're the victims of changing times, of automation of poor health, of poor schooling, or the children of a poverty-stricken home. Poverty is self-perpetuating. There is never quite enough of anything for progress—only enough to keep alive.

As more facts on poverty-stricken Americans are disclosed, the more clear some facts become. (1) Our present system of relief is totally inadequate; keeping people alive in abject poverty costs more, in the long run, than would any expensive "crash" program to restore them to an employable status. (2) Lack of education is at the root of most unemployment and poverty. There are too many sections of the country that don't have enough schools, and there are too many poor schools. At the present time, Federal aid to education—and a lot of it—seems the only solution. (3) It seems clear that the work week will have to be drastically cut, to provide employment for the millions now unemployed, and the flood of youngsters entering the work market every year. Industry is making tentative moves in this direction, with talk of a 35-hour work week, and the steel industries 13-week vacation plan, but it's generally agreed that even more drastic moves than this will be necessary.

Probably we will always have some of the poor with us. But there are exciting stirrings of radical change in this land—more education for all, a shorter work week, an attempt to fight poverty at its roots. Let's hope they don't founder in a sea of political and religious wrangling.

Director of Social Studies,
Rockford East High School

I went over to hear Charles Percy the other afternoon, talked to him, and listened to his speech. He is an engaging chap, straight forward, sincere. In addition he gave the impression that he has a lot of ability and that he has some genuine ideas about state government.

Illinois has no tradition of electing outstanding governors. Compare our list of the last 60 years to the state of New York. On the record in New York appears such names as Teddy Roosevelt, Charles E. Hughes, Al Smith, F. D. Roosevelt, Tom Dewey, Herbert Lehman, Averell Harriman and Nelson Rockefeller. In the same length of time, Illinois has had but two governors who made a favorable impression on the nation: Frank O. Lowden and Adlai Stevenson.

For the most part the roll call of Illinois governors is drab and dreary, composed of insignificant names that are mercifully and quickly forgotten. Henry Horner had a few years as governor but he got off to a slow start and became seriously ill to the point of incapacity before his term ended.

What is the difference between the two states? Partly, I think it is a difference in the state attitude toward public affairs. The metropolitan press in New York, Republican and Democrat, has done a good job of public education. There is nothing in Illinois that remotely compares to the New York Times or to the Herald-Tribune. The largest and most influential paper in this area has twice won the award for being the least fair and least reliable of major American papers. The vote in both cases was by top newsmen: the Washington correspondents.

The Chicago Daily News is a decent paper, the Sun-Times has some good features, but neither can compare to the Times.

There is another difference. From time to time New York goes on a reform spree, and changes the guard. Chicago has never had a reform mayor in the sense that La Guardia wielded a broom. It may not be the fault of the papers: it may be that people in these parts just don't care for reform. I remember the lady from Ogle county, very respectable, who wrote a stinging letter to the Daily News because their reporter had unraveled the Hodge scandal. She felt that a Republican paper should not expose Republican misdeeds.

Illinois is a state of machine politics. Since I was a small boy, I have heard of the rotten politics in Cook County; as a man I have no reason to doubt them. But machine politics operates in the other party too. If anyone thinks that the wild gyrations in Republican circles after the Carpenter announcement was motivated by purity and a passionate zeal for the public service, he is as innocent as Red Ridinghood. It is a source of no joy to have an elected policeman's association (the sheriff's organization) to be named as one of the powers in state politics. I don't think that police should be elected anyhow. I don't think they should pressure and wheedle for votes; I don't think they should be up to their ears in politics.

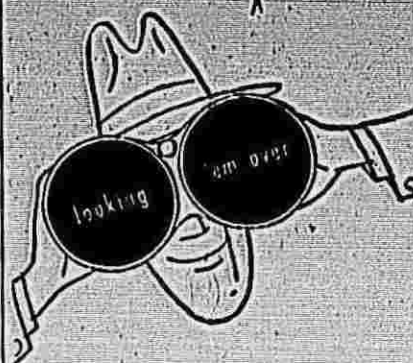

Anyhow, this is the state in which a young capable man is making a pitch for the governor's seat. The man just might be prime presidential timber some day if he were elected and if he played the role of governor as he is capable of playing it. It would be fun to watch, even a little exciting. But he has to get the nomination before he can even run, and the old pros are a little afraid of a young man with ideas. The old state house would never be the same again.

The radical right won't have him; the Republican women and the Young Republicans have been badly infected with the John Birch virus, and this man talks with some sense. He sounds as if he has been away from home sometime or other.

The thing to do is to play it safe. Get someone to run who is ultra-conservative, one who will play ball with the courthouse bunch, and lose next fall in the election like a gentleman.

Maybe that's the way it should be. Kerner is not a great governor, but he is a big cut above the average. Maybe Charles Percy would have less effect on the party than the party would have on him. Maybe he would have to compromise and double talk so much to win the nomination, that he would have no ground left for maneuver. Maybe I should have never gone to hear Percy. He left me with some dreams.

You'll get a nice little raise in your pay envelope, probably early in March, when President Johnson's income tax cut becomes law.

The cut will reduce withholding tax on your pay check from 18% to 14%. So while you are groaning over this year's income tax, you will have one slight ray of cheer—you won't be paying quite as much tax next year. And no matter what dire predictions are made by conservatives who want to see the national budget balanced before a tax-cut is allowed, most wage-earners will be mighty happy to have a couple more dollars a week to help balance their personal budget.

After all, why should the taxpayer be the only one operating on a deficit budget? At least, if you can't make your monthly payments, you can point out to your creditors that you're only in the same boat as the Federal government.

Alongside the beans and corn on supermarket shelves will now appear a portfolio of American Heritage documents.

In cooperation with the Freedom Foundation, supermarkets will sell the Liberty Collection, containing reproductions on parchment of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, Bill of Rights, Monroe Doctrine, Gettysburg Address, Star-Spangled Banner and the pledge of allegiance.

It takes real persistence to avoid education these days.

How much effect is earlier retirement and Social Security payments having on passing needed referendums for such things as school improvements?

There are no statistics, of course, to show what percentage of retired persons vote against a raise in school taxes, but it does seem difficult to pass such referendums where there is a high number of retired persons owning property.

Retired people quickly lose contact with children and teen-agers and even the younger married set. Probably their only real contact in this area is with members of their own family.

Being out of contact with them, they quickly become out of sympathy with them, and unaware of the changing problems around them. All teen-agers become delinquents in the minds of the oldsters—all except the few they know. They become convinced that their tax money is being squandered on useless frills. The "useless frills" are usually equipment that is badly needed to keep the pupils abreast of modern developments.

Too bad more oldsters can't be lured into keeping in close contact with their local schools. They could be a great help, and it could make a great change in their attitude.

For that matter, too bad more parents can't be lured into keeping in touch with their schools.

People, whose blindness is caused by reasons other than a defective cornea, may donate their eyes after death to give sight to others according to the Illinois Eye Bank of the Illinois Society for the prevention of Blindness.

The Lake County Board of Supervisors missed a great chance to appoint another citizens advisory group last week during the hassle over a rezoning petition which would have permitted the operation of a sanitary landfill garbage site in Vernon Township.

In fact, if the supervisors want to settle the pressing problem of garbage disposal they should appoint several advisory committees.

The logical solution would be to appoint one committee made up entirely of residents of the southeast corner of the county who would naturally recommend establishment of a county dump in the Antioch area.

After this was established the committee would be disbanded and a new committee composed of Chain O' Lakes area residents would be appointed and their recommendation would, of course, locate a second disposal site in the opposite corner of the county.

Several such committees would be needed, of course, to balance the locations and insure that each section of the county was equally enraged.

State Rep. W. J. Murphy, of Antioch, who recently sent a letter to all state legislators in his role of Chairman of the State Budgetary Commission recommending withdrawal of state support from the Northeast Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, reports substantial backing from other legislators.

Chairman Murphy opined in his letter that the planning commission is not accomplishing its designated task, is not directly responsible to any of the governmental agencies which contribute to its support, and uses a confusing and inadequate accounting system.

Many Lake County communities contribute to the NIMAPC, but few of them report substantial returns.

The plans of the Better Government Association to enter a third party in the state legislature race prompts some interesting questions.

First of all, what group will meet in what smoke-filled room to select the candidates and won't this make them "hand-picked candidates"?

Secondly, is Illinois so well-stocked in men of "high principle and moral courage" that we can afford to send them to Springfield where they will surely be contaminated by contact with those nefarious politicians in the Illinois General Assembly?

And thirdly, assuming that any of these third party Polyanthas can be elected, which is doubtful, what influence could they exert as an extremely minority group?

Max Wildman and William Rentschler last week offered interesting contrasts in campaign techniques as candidates for the two 12th Congressional District national convention delegate posts to which they aspire.

Both men are pledged to support Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, naturally.

Last Saturday Rentschler went to Chicago to attend the dinner at the International Amphitheatre where Goldwater was the main speaker. The same night Wildman rushed to Chicago to attend a pre-dinner reception for Goldwater and then hurried back to Lake County to attend the Grant-Township Lincoln Day Dinner and the Lake Villa Township GOP Club dance with his charming wife, Joyce.

It's our guess that Wildman scored more heavily with voters in the district.

There seems to be considerable merit in the suggestion by Douglas A. Macillis, candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator, that Lake County proceed with plans to establish a junior college and at the same time launch negotiations to have the state absorb the junior college into the state university system when a four-year college is possible for this area.

Such a program would show state authorities that this area is willing to shoulder its share of the college burden and should influence the decision to establish a new state university here.

Your Governor Reports

The opportunities that a state provides for its children are an excellent test of the quality of that state.

Illinois has gone a long way toward passing that test with the creation of a cabinet-level department to deal with the special needs of children, their families and other citizens requiring special services. This new agency—the Department of Children and Family Services—came into being Jan. 1, six months following its authorization by the General Assembly.

For the first time one organization has jurisdiction over this complex field, which includes such areas as foster care, family services, child protection, day care, homemaker service and services to unwed mothers.

Some of the services provided by the new department were provided previously by other state agencies. Others were handled by voluntary groups and still others were not provided at all. The department working hand-in-hand with the existing voluntary organizations, has established priorities for initial stages and set time schedules for future extensions of services.

Our state, being so large, has a great many regional differences that will cause programs to vary in both kind and quality.

Director of the department is Dr. Donald Brieland, a former professor at Minnesota and Northwestern Universities. He has done considerable research in this important field and also served as executive officers for the Legislative Commission on Services for Children and their Families, whose recommendations formed the basis for the new department.

Illinois is the only state that has elevated this combination of services to departmental status. Other states and the federal government have expressed a deep interest in our plans and are closely following our progress. There is no doubt in my mind that the department will form a pattern for the future in other states.

Where Do Lost Customers Go?

Every car dealer knows that despite his best efforts to render service he still loses a certain percentage of customers who fail to continue to patronize his dealership once they have taken delivery of their new or used car.

Why and how much of this repeat business is lost was surveyed recently by industry economists with interesting results. Taking an average 100 buyers, the tabulation showed that 48% of those buyers no longer patronized the selling dealer at the end of four years; 81% at the end of ten years.

The breakdown showed that 82% of the customers who took their business elsewhere in the first four years, did so on their own because of a combination of unadjusted complaints, discourteous treatment, poor service or indifference. The remaining losses were due to deaths, moving to other cities and being directly influenced to trade elsewhere.

At John Teresi's Chevy-Olds we pride ourselves on the high percentage of loyal, repeat customers that look to us for all their motoring needs. We know, however, that some of our buyers still slip away from us, just as they do all dealers, and we are constantly doing our best to correct the shortcomings within our business that may cause this loss.

You will help us do this if you will bring to our attention anything regarding your treatment in our dealership that will enable us, to serve you better. Our Suggestion Box and Complaint Department is always open with your interest in mind.

Question of The Week

How many nights out of a week should a wife have?

Last week we asked several people how many nights out a week a husband should have. This week we'll look at the other side of the question.

What do YOU think?

Here are some answers:
Jack Fields, State Bank: Seven nights a week. (Jack qualified it by adding, "Providing she has all her work done and has arranged for the care of the children". Not so good as it sounded at first.)

Harold Gaston—As many as she wants. (also slightly qualified.)

Gert Redlin, Rt. 1, Trevor (salesgirl at Gibbs & Jensen): As many as her husband expects to have. (That's diplomacy.)

Robert Wilton, Wilton's Electric—None (An honest tyrant.)

To think you could have charged us $250,000 for peering through the cracks in the fence into the abyss below, and you're going to let us do it for free (at least in '64).

P.S. in case you taxpayers feel unduly cheerful after reading the above, may I mention that the budget for 1964 appropriates $250,000 from the General Fund (with-out levy) for transfer to the Building Commission. Evidently the County Board subscribes to the poet's plaint, "They also serve who only stand and wait", and feels the Building Commission should be recompensed for its time spent waiting.

Correction
Last week we received and printed a Letter to the Editor from two Foreign Exchange students, thanking the Woodlawn PTA and Faculty for a pleasant evening.

It seems that the students were confused on the name of the school. They referred to the Antioch Oakland Grade School PTA and Faculty.

Letters to the Editor

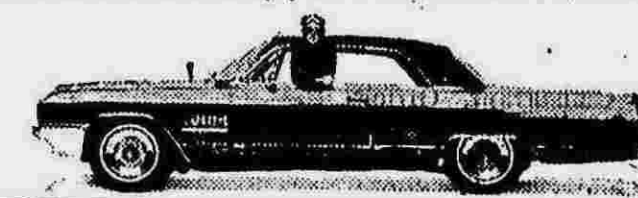

To the Editor:

"$250,000 Levy Abatement O.K." exults the News-Sun's front page Wednesday, February 12, and goes on to tell us suspicious, refractory, obnoxious taxpayers that the benign boys on the third floor are as good as their word. They're not going to charge us rent for the new Court House in 1964. Remember, they promised to hate the levy if county offices could carry the freight—the levy was just an emergency measure. Some of us had doubted the integrity of our tried and true legislators—and now, aren't we ashamed of ourselves! We've a nice, deep, illegally dug (the dirt was flying while petitions were being circulated to bring to referendum the change of County Seat to Libertyville) hole in the ground and we don't have to pay a cent of rent on it. That's magnanimity, fellas!!!

If you're after a car with some life to it, there's only one thing to do. Be my guest.

I'm easy to find, you know. Just look for me at your Buick dealer's, during his Sports Car Rally. While you wait for me, you can drive one of his sport models—a Wildcat, maybe, or a Skylark. Or even a Riviera. In fact, you can drive all three. That's what the Buick Sports Car Rally is all about. (What a way to start a New Year!) If I don't show up, you can talk price. That's even more pleasant than conversation with me. You'll see. Once you get your hands on a Buick, you won't miss me a bit. Really.

ANTIOCH AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

By Del Jahneke

Mrs. John W. Horan, Jr., Rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Earl Horton, Gold Star chairman, and Mrs. Burt Anderson, sergeant-at-arms, were delegates at the 10th District American Legion Auxiliary meeting in Grayslake, on Feb. 12. They heard James Reinach, a Highland Park High School Senior, and winner of the 10th District American Legion Oratorical contest, give a very fine, original speech on the meaning of "Freedom." He will enter Division Legion competition in Rockford on Feb. 25.

Approximately 60 American Legion Auxiliary members and guests came to the pot-luck supper, meeting and party on Friday, Feb. 14, at the Antioch Legion Home. During the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Lucy Hlimes, president, Mrs. J. W. Horan, Jr., announced that the Antioch Legion Auxiliary Unit will sponsor another party at Downey Hospital for 60 patients on Feb. 27. Eight Auxiliary members will donate the refreshments. Legionnaires are also requested to attend this party, as many of these patients are well enough to play cards and bowl, and they would welcome more men visitors.

Mr. Frank Kennedy, Jr., President of the Lake County Blind Association, was the featured speaker of the evening. He first had an informative and highly interesting film shown on the training of Leader Dogs at Rochester, Minn. This school is sponsored by all the Lions Clubs. Mr. Kennedy then gave a brief talk on his experiences while attending the training school for four weeks. He related how his Leader Dog Rex has become his constant companion, and how Rex instantly and instinctively reacts to any stairs, obstacle or barrier that might prove hazardous to his Master. Frank stated that part of their training consisted of two blind "students" being left at one destination in the city of Rochester and being told they must reach another location several miles away, with all of the territory completely unfamiliar to anyone of them. In a comparatively short time, those students could easily find their way to coffee shops, various large and small stores, through revolving doors, etc., and even manage the risk of crossing the streets and contending with the heavy city traffic. Mr. Kennedy then demonstrated his Leader Dog's response with several commands from him. Part of one record was played on his "Talking Book" machine, which is furnished free of charge to blind people by the U. S. Government. He concluded his talk with a "question and answer" session which held his audience in rapt attention.

Mrs. Joseph Horton, chairman of this meeting, then had the group playing card games for the remainder of the evening.

All Signs Fail in Dry Weather & Illinois Winter

Almost all amateur weather prognosticators — those who go by pheasant tracks, fish habits, bear skins and woolly bear caterpillars — generally have failed so far in their predictions for the 1963-64 winter.

On the other hand, all could claim 100% accuracy if they would settle for just any one month.

The fish in Lake Michigan dived deeper last fall, forecasting a frigid winter, said one bearded authority. The season started with the warmest October in the weather bureau's 92 years of record-keeping.

Some people observed that fur-bearing animals had less fur than normal last fall. These prognosticators interpreted this as a sign the winter would be warm. December was the coldest December on record.

November ran hot and cold, but averaged warmer than normal. This was good for the pest predators, bad for the fish forecasters.

This January (1964) was the warmest since 1944. Contrast this to last January and the 23rd in particular. January 23, 1963, had a high of 5° below zero, a low of 18° below, and an average of minus 15°.

Balmy breezes blew this January 23. The high was 56°, low 39° and average 45°. Unfortunately no one checked on the density of fur or depth of fish either day in order to forecast the weather next January 23.

Last fall, pheasants made wide tracks. That indicated lots of snow this winter. So far, snowfall has totaled ten inches this season, compared to 26 inches by this time last winter. So much for pheasant tracks.

Migrating south wasn't quite the solution to Illinois weather this winter. Dallas, Texas, for example, experienced the same kind of confused weather.

Their October was the warmest on record, with December the coldest. January in Dallas really was mixed up. The average temperature was below normal, but the high temperature of 77° broke all records, as did a low of 11°. The city had a record snowfall in one day that brought total snowfall for the winter up to that in the Chicago area.

U. S. Weather Bureau records show the winter in Illinois through the end of January has been warmer than normal and much warmer

Although this heating season has been a crazy, mixed-up one, N. Gas observes that Illinois is still the best place to live. The state has few weather extremes as other states do.

The average annual temperature at Barrow, Alaska, is only 10° above zero. It got down to 70° below zero in 1964 at Rogers Pass, Montana, and up to 134° in the shade at Death Valley, California, in 1913. Key West, Florida, has the highest average annual temperature, 77.7°. Louisiana is the wettest state, Nevada the driest.

Ranier Park in Washington gets about 575 inches of snow every year. Nebraska can claim the largest hailstone recorded in the U.S., 1½ pounds. And these states, too, have their share of weather predictions based on fur, fowl and fish!

A man and his wife entered a dentist's office. "I want a tooth pulled," the wife told the doctor. "And don't bother with gas or novocaine. We're in a hurry."

"Well, you are brave," the dentist exclaimed. "Show me your tooth."

"Henry," she said, turning to her husband, "open your mouth."

FROM THE Chicago Motor Club

- KEEP CALM!
- STEER IN THE DIRECTION THE REAR OF YOUR CAR IS SKIDDING!

- DON'T OVERSTEER!
- DON'T LIFT FOOT FROM ACCELERATOR SUDDENLY!

Only people with a corneal defect or injury (which includes about two percent of the blind population) can be helped by a corneal transplant, according to the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

The Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness states that there is a constant need for donor eyes for its Illinois Eye Bank sight restoration activities. Why not pledge your eyes, after death, so others may see.

FOR TAPER WINTER DRIVING

Decrease speed to fit conditions of the weather. Increase the margin of safety between your car and the car ahead or other objects. Do not apply brakes suddenly — gradual application helps prevent skidding. In the event the car skids, turn front wheels in the direction of the skid. Keep windshield wipers and defroster in good working order. If windshield freezes preventing clear vision, pull over to side of road, stop, and clean windshield. If your trip isn't absolutely necessary, don't start out driving in icy weather or a snow storm.

Conversation Bar Highlights Lorenz's New Addition

Cozy, relaxing, intimate and gracious—that seems to be the keynote in the new cocktail lounge at Lorenz's Smart Country House.

No, it isn't that way right now. The floor is still a welter of shavings and dust and workmen are earnestly pursuing their appointed tasks amid dangling cords, saws, boards and all the paraphernalia of construction.

But enough is completed so that it isn't hard to get the picture, with Ray Lorenz, Jr., filling in the details. The place should be ready for business around March 1, he says.

The conversation bar is the first thing that catches your eye when you walk in now. It's a far cry from the bare conventional bar. It's near the north end of the large room—the lounge is about 42 feet by 50 feet.

One side of the bar is scalloped, the shape reminiscent of the club on a playing card. The shape makes it easy for groups to converse—no more need to lean forward or back, craning around the person seated next to you to hear or speak to a friend one stool away.

The bar is roughly triangular in shape, with one side slanting out, then back in to meet the scalloped side. Along one area, the floor is raised and bar patrons relax in comfortable chairs.

The bar is decorated with a pattern of padded sections and a padded arm rest runs along the top. Colonial light fixtures hang over the bar.

A mixture of colonial and modern runs throughout the lounge. Barn lamps and brass chandeliers hang from the ceiling in the various "nooks" created by curved settees and tables.

Sectional settees, covered with black Nauhagahide, run along the expanse of the south wall, under the picture windows. Tables will be placed in front of the settees, with chairs on the other side.

The center of the lounge will hold a cluster of tables. Lights in each "nook" can be controlled separately. So can the sound transmission in the lounge, the dining room, and the banquet room.

A piano bar is also located in the north end of the lounge with an organ for entertainment.

The whole lounge will be carpeted, even the washrooms. In the ceramic tile on the washroom walls are set in squares of brilliant, in a jewel effect.

The banquet room in the basement is more simply furnished. The floor is tile, the wall paneled in tawny walnut. The west wall shows an expanse of brick, with a fireplace.

The banquet room is also about 42 feet by 50 feet, and will accommodate about 250 people. It has a service bar, and like the rest of the establishment, separate controls for sound, light, heat and air conditioning.

Many of the furnishings were not yet installed when we toured the addition last week, so you'll have to see it yourself to fill in the details. As we said, it will be ready for business around the first of March.

Ship's Bell To Ring Again

BACK TO DUTY—Retired since 1945, the ship's bell that rode the Great Lakes training ship USS Wilmette for more than 30 years will ring again.

Yeager (left) of Salina, Kansas, Commandant of the 9th Naval District, presents the 80-pound bronze bell to retired Rear Admiral James M. Ross of 5501 Hutchinson, Chicago, Commander of the Naval Militia Armories of Illinois and a former skipper of the Wilmette.

The bell was put back into Navy service at Chicago's Naval Reserve Training Center at the Naval Armory, where it will occupy a place of honor on the quarter deck.

Income Tax Facts

E. C. Coyle, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue, has reminded taxpayers that they are responsible under law for all entries and supporting documents in their Federal tax returns, no matter who prepares the return.

The tax advisor, whether he is an Internal Revenue employee or a private practitioner, can rely upon the information furnished by the taxpayer. His primary purpose is the transfer of information from the taxpayer to the proper places on the tax form.

Mr. Coyle suggested that taxpayers seeking professional help should review last year's return and read current instructions before gathering information for the advisor. Frequently, a deduction or item of income is missed because the advisor was not furnished the necessary information by the taxpayer.

Mr. Coyle emphasized that regardless of who prepares the return, the responsibility for filing the return and liability for any under-payment, interest and possible penalties are the taxpayer's.

In homes with Flameless Electric Heat you almost have to hunt for dust

When you move into an electrically heated home you can practically forget about dirt. Electric heat is as clean as the electric light you read by.

There's no flame or fuel to make dirt, soot, or grime. And electric heat is such gentle heat it doesn't even stir up dust. In fact, in an electrically heated home you often have to look for dust.

EVERYTHING STAYS CLEAN LONGER

Your curtains and draperies stay fresh and nice for so long you'll have a time remembering when you put them up. Upholstery stays lots nicer, too. Electric heat is so clean you spend far less time housekeeping. That leaves you more time for activities you enjoy.

Living in an electrically heated home has other advantages, too, such as room-by-room heat control and fresher feeling heat that uses up none of the moisture or oxygen in the air. Even your skin feels more comfortable.

ELECTRIC HEATING NOW COSTS LESS THAN EVER

The recent rate reduction—on Electric Heating—applies to the three basic systems illustrated below. So, if you're looking for a new home . . . plan to build one . . . or want to modernize the heating in the home you own, call your nearest Public Service Company office for complete facts on the Electric Heating system that's best for you.

3 BASIC TYPES OF FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEATING TO SOLVE EVERY HEATING PROBLEM

Radiant Electric Heating—offers room-by-room control. Ideal in homes or apartments. Just set the dial and you control the heat. Heating units circulate and radiate gentle waves of warmth throughout each room.

Central Electric Heating—new kind of furnace for new or older homes. Works with your present duct system. Circulates gentle electrically heated air. Air conditioning may be added at any time.

Electric Heat Pump—gives you perfect year-round climate automatically. Amazing unit switches to heating or air conditioning by itself. Maintains ideal temperature and humidity with one setting.

So Clean, So Safe, So Modern.

Sequoits Topple Panthers Avenge Earlier Loss

The Antioch Sequoits took another step forward in their bid for a fourth place finish in the Northwest Suburban Conference basketball race Friday night by beating a hustling Round Lake team 70 to 67 on the loser's court.

Antioch won the game in the second quarter as they came from an 18 to 11 point deficit and poured in 28 points to lead at the half, 39 to 30.

Ed Matejka and John Lear, shooting from outside the Panthers' zone defense, led the rally and put the Sequoits out in front. Switching from the zone to a man to man in the third period the Panthers cut the margin to 55 to 48 at the beginning of the final stanza.

The Panthers outscored the Sequoits 19 to 15 in the last quarter, but couldn't overcome the 9 point first half deficit.

Matejka and Lear led the Sequoits in scoring with 19 and 20 points respectively. Dennis Carter took game honors and paced the losers with 24 points.

Neither team gained any advantage on the boards as both squads ended with 44 rebounds. Antioch shot well in the contest, hitting 32 of 77 from the field and 6 of 8 from the free throw line. Round Lake hit 27 to 60 and made 13 of 25 free throw attempts.

The Sequoits have another tough weekend coming up as they go to Wauconda Friday for a game with the Bulldogs and then will close out the regular season at home Saturday against Grayslake. Wauconda needs a victory Friday to retain their first place tie with Grant. Grant has only to get by by the two tailend teams, Elva-Vernon and Warren, to capture at least a share of the title.

Tax Facts On Town Meeting

The annual township meeting is coming up again. — April 7 — and the budget and appropriation ordinance should be completed in tentative form by March 7, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois said today. The March 7 date is fixed for such completion, because the tentative budget and appropriation ordinance must be made conveniently available for inspection by the township electors at least 30 days before it is adopted at the annual township meeting. The Federation calls two important considerations to the attention of the electors at the annual meeting this year.

First, the State Department of Revenue is arranging schools of instruction for assessors to be held at convenient centers around the State. These workshop schools are in addition to the annual school to be again held in Peoria, March 2, 3, and 4, by the Township Assessors' Association. Those charged with preparing the township budget and appropriation ordinance, and the electors present at the township meeting, should include on item to pay the reasonable expenses of the township assessor to one of these schools. As such an item in this year's budget would not realize any expense (until it was extended and collected in 1965, the electors should seriously consider sending their assessor to a school this year and paying for his reasonable expenses from available contingency appropriations. Such an expenditure would be valuable and pay dividends for both the taxpayer and the local governments.

Second, the township road commissioner must this year have his tentative budget and appropriation ordinance prepared at least 30 days prior to final action thereon at the annual township meeting. He is to file it with the town clerk who makes it available to the inspection of the public. Town hearings are held thereon, one on the last Tuesday of March before the township board of auditors, and the final hearing shall be held at the annual township meeting. The electors at the annual township meeting shall approve the levy of all or any part of such estimated amounts as they need necessary. This is a new procedure this year in the township laws, made effective January 1, 1964, with the passage of House Bill 659 by the 73rd Illinois General Assembly.

This inquiry came to the reservations desk of a convention hotel: "Do you have suitable accommodations where I can put up with my wife?"

"This year I switched makes... and bought a new Fairlane. I think Ford has come up with an exceptional automobile here... in looks...value...ride...handling... comfort...and roominess. Fairlane's truly a great car!"

MR. JOHN D. EMERY, MAYOR OF EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

Ford changed... so did we!

MRS. GEORGE HILL, GLEN ELLYN, ILL.

"I test-drove the Tempest, Corvair, the F-85, then Ford. I liked Ford best and bought it. The Cruise-O-Matic is wonderful. There's plenty of power, too. And we love the bucket seats. We've owned a couple of Chevys, but this year we decided Ford was best for our family!"

MR. FRED ODANAKA, CHICAGO, ILL.

"My son and I are both close to six feet tall. We both found that we couldn't sit comfortably in most of the cars we test-drove. The Ford gave us plenty of head room and leg room—front seat and back."

MR. ORVILLE A. KINNEY, HINSDALE, ILL.

"I used to drive Chevrolet. Then I discovered the extra weight, more solid construction and comfortable bucket seats in the new Ford. Important features for me! Because even though I have a bad back I must often take long car trips."
